

New Bristol Myers Squibb European Cell Therapy Manufacturing Facility Coming to the Netherlands

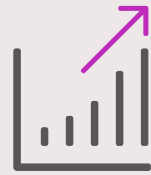

Bristol Myers Squibb is building its first cell therapy manufacturing site in Europe as part of its ongoing commitment and investment in cell therapy.

Leiden, NL, a flourishing life sciences community outside the Amsterdam region

Significant investment by BMS in Europe

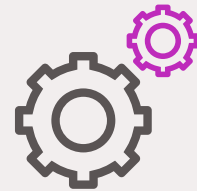

Will increase capacity to treat patients globally

Convenient access to transportation in Europe

Reduces future turnaround times for patients in EU

Multi-product technology and capabilities

Environmental and sustainable building standards

Hiring several hundred new employees to join our global cell therapy team

Construction jobs adding to local economy